THE SCHOOL OF LIFE

The School of Life is a global organisation helping people to lead more fulfilled lives.

We believe that the journey to finding fulfilment begins with self-knowledge. It is only when we have a sense of who we really are that we can make reliable decisions, particularly around love and work.

Sadly, tools and techniques for developing self-knowledge and finding fulfilment are hard to find – they're not taught in schools, in universities, or in workplaces. Too many of us go through life without ever really understanding what's going on in the recesses of our minds.

That's why we created The School of Life; a resource for helping us understand ourselves, for improving our relationships, our careers and our social lives – as well as for helping us find calm and get more out of our leisure hours.

The Compatibility Game

It's natural for us to wonder about our level of compatibility in relationships. This is a game that – with charm and wit – guides us to insights about what really matters to us, where certain differences might lie and how best to deal with divergences.

The game includes a range of cards that show priorities in key areas (from family to work, sex to money) which we're invited to arrange in order of importance – and then to explore our responses to those of others (it could be a prospective partner, a long-established spouse – or a friend). An accompanying booklet suggests exercises and scores to deepen insight and spark conversation.

The game, at once entertaining and useful, allows us to step back and consider what kind of people we are in love – and to explain our identities in the name of fulfilling and successful relationships.

Travel Therapy Cards

Going travelling can be one of life's greatest activities – but often, we fail to deepen the experience as much as we should and return home with some of the promise of our trip unrealised.

Here is a pack of cards designed to help us get the very best out of travel – and to embed its greatest lessons in our minds.

The cards contain questions that we can reflect on ourselves (in a journal or on a train ride) or ask others in a group – and that lead us to think deeply about how we might derive maximal satisfaction from a trip.

This is an ingenious, low-tech, high-impact solution to one of the great conundrums of travel: how to ensure that the reality of going away will match our hopes.

How to get Married (Paperback)

Many of us are attracted to the idea of marriage and yet feel a bit uncomfortable with some of the rituals that are traditionally associated with the big day. Perhaps the old ceremonies place too much emphasis on religion or else seem out of step with some of the complex realities of contemporary relationships. In response to this dilemma, The School of Life has rethought what the ideal wedding day would consist of and redesigned the process for modern couples.

The book proposes new ways of getting prepared for a wedding at a psychological level, suggesting how couples should ready themselves for the often-tricky journey ahead. It presents an entirely practical and thoughtfully redesigned wedding ceremony, from picking out a suitable venue to suggested vows and readings. Finally, it offers some ideas for how to approach the start of married life.

A Job to Love (Paperback)

The idea that work might be fulfilling rather than just necessary is a recent invention. These days, in prosperous areas of the world, we don't only expect to get paid, we also expect to find meaning and satisfaction.

A Job to Love is designed to help us better understand ourselves in order to find a job that is right for us. It explores the myths, traps and confusions that get in our way and shows us how to develop new, effective attitudes and habits.

A Voice of One's Own

This is a novel with a striking mission at its heart: not just to tell us a story but to show us – through the example of one life – how we might change our own.

The novel introduces us to Anna, a kind, inspiring, thoughtful but modest and self-questioning person, in whom we might catch echoes of ourselves. Life has been hard of late for Anna: her job is putting her under extreme pressure, her relationship is lacking the support she craves, her parents have saddled her with a complicated emotional history. And yet she is determined to progress and liberate herself from her inhibitions.

In a style that's brief and poignant, accompanied by lyrical and thought-provoking images, we follow Anna as she slowly unpicks the roots of her self-suspicion and discovers something we all deserve but have so often been denied: a voice of our own.

Confidence in 40 Images

The difference between success and failure often comes down to an ingredient that we are seldom directly taught about and may forget to focus on: confidence.

Here is a supreme guide to a fatefully neglected quality – made up of a series of short essays that encourage us into a new and more fruitful state of mind. We hear why we should dare to try, why the past doesn't have to dictate the future, why we can alter the way we speak to ourselves and why there are so many reasons to keep faith with our most ambitious aspirations.

The images that accompany each essay are there to ensure that we aren't merely intellectually stirred to change our lives but are also given the best kind of visual assistance.

Within its modest size, this book succeeds at a mighty feat: unlocking our latent powers and edging.

A History of Ideas

This is an unusual sort of history book: a history of ideas – and not just any old ideas, ideas from across time and space that are best suited to healing, enchanting and reviving us.

Along the way, we travel around the world, from the very beginnings of our species right up to the modern age. We hear about the Ancient Greeks and Romans, we learn about Buddhism and Islam, we acquire ideas from Hinduism and the European Renaissance, the Enlightenment and Modernity. Deliberately eclectic, the book gives us a panoramic, 3,000-year view over the finest insights of a diversity of civilisations.

Every idea hangs off an image – it could be a place, a document, a building or a work of art – that has something very specific to teach us. There are ideas here that will stick in our minds because they can help to answer the biggest puzzles we may have: about the direction of our lives, the issues of relationships, the meaning of existence.

The book amounts to a feast for the intellect and the imagination – to make us into the best sorts of historians, those who know how to use the past to shed light on their own lives.

RELATIONSHIPS

It is estimated that 70% of a person's life satisfaction depends on the quality of their relationships. Yet this is an area where we too often get stuck, unable to make ourselves understood or find the sort of love we need.

These tools are designed to help us escape our frustrations, learn to communicate properly and put us on the path to sincere and flourishing relationships.

SELF-KNOWLEDGE

In Ancient Greece, when Socrates was asked to summarise all philosophical commandments, he replied: 'Know yourself'. Self-knowledge matters so much because an accurate sense of who we are helps us to make reliable decisions – particularly around love and work.

These tools help us to understand the hard-to-access bits of our minds and to know our deep personalities as well as we can.

CALM

Calm has a deep and natural appeal. Most of us long to be more patient, unruffled, at ease and capable of reacting with quiet good humour to life's setbacks and irritants. But if calm is an ocean, most of us are still in the shallows.

These hugely effective tools help us to secure calm on a regular basis and to grow into the serene people we have always longed to be.

LEISURE

The School of Life is hugely interested in art, literature, psychology and philosophy – and draws upon these disciplines for its many ideas. It proposes that works of culture were all made, in one way or another, with the idea of improving how we live.

This range of products connects up culture with our own dilemmas and hopes around love, work and our psyches, and invites us to use our leisure time to address the complexities of being human.

STATEMENT

The objects we own are, in their own way, hugely eloquent; they reflect our personalities and reveal important truths about our ourselves to others. These might be as simple as the brands we like or the music we listen to – but they might also be something more profound: our personal philosophy of life.

Our Statement collection is made up of beautiful objects proclaiming wise, vital truths about emotions and existence, helping you to make a statement wherever you go.

CHILDREN

Grown-ups might like to think that they have all the answers, but in many ways it is children who are wiser. They soak up facts and ideas, ask complex questions and approach the world with a boundless curiosity. The more this curiosity is fed, the more likely they are to grow into thoughtful, compassionate and fulfilled adults.

Our Children's range is designed to harness children's spontaneous philosophical instinct, introducing them to great thinkers and transformative ideas to carry with them throughout their lives.
